

This is to certify that:

Oleksandra Hondiul

Lecturer of the Institute of Journalism at Borys Grinchenko Kyiv University participated as a keynote speaker in the AJE UK Annual Conference “Educating Generation Z: challenges, changes and anticipating the future of journalism education” on 23-24 June, 2022 at Middlesex University, London, United Kingdom.

The changes to the professional field of journalism, as well as the large cultural shifts seen over the last 20 years provides the perfect setting for journalism educators to come together and problem solve some of the pressing issues facing us.

Oleksandra shared her experiences of continuing to deliver journalism programmes while Ukraine was in a state of war and her colleagues and students were taking refuge from the conflict in different countries across Europe.

Also she talked about how Borys Grinchenko Kyiv University addressed the emotional needs of students, as well as the practical difficulties and change of curriculum delivery, and how their experiences have caused Ukrainian students to reconceptualise and reimagine their role as journalists – and the function of journalism in the future.

The Association for Journalism Education (UK) (www.ajeuk.org) comprises UK universities who teach journalism. Our work is focused on supporting and promoting teaching and research in the field of journalism education here in the UK, over the course of the last few years we have also worked with colleagues from all over the world.

Dr Margaret Hughes

Chair

Association for Journalism Education UK

August 16, 2022